INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP ON LEADERSHIP & SECURITY

National Defence University
Islamabad Pakistan

ABOUT NDU

National Defence University (NDU) Islamabad is the premier Institution of Pakistan Armed Forces, established to impart education in fields of strategy, statecraft, warfare, public policy, leadership and peace studies. NDU is a Centre of Excellence in academic and research pursuits. The University is designed to cater for needs of senior leadership from various segments of society both from home and abroad. NDU, then National Defence College (NDC) was established in 1960 and upgraded as University in 2007. Suiting the contemporary needs, NDU runs a number of short and long duration academic programmes. The Institution is also open to private sector for BS, M.Phil and Ph.D programmes in various disciplines. The University is organized into Faculty of Security Studies (FSS), Faculty of Contemporary Studies (FCS) and Institute for Strategic Studies, Research and Analysis (ISSRA). Since its inception in 2007, ISSRA occupies a particular niche in the academic and research world. ISSRA is a think tank which focuses on contemporary security and strategic issues. Institute provides analysis on national security, foreign policy, strategic trends and public policy by bringing new strategic perspectives under discussion. Besides provision of research assistance, ISSRA is also mandated to interact with other national and international research organizations by holding and participating in symposia, seminars, round-tables and workshops over variety of regional and global issues. ISSRA regularly conducts workshops for politicians, parliamentarians, bureaucrats, businessmen, government officials (both civil and military) and personnel from media/civil society.

ISSRA is now introducing the 1st International Workshop on Leadership & Security (IWLS). IWLS is one week workshop for global leaders, senior policy makers, diplomats and senior executives.
